

UiO : University of Oslo

Pharmacoepidemiology Courses at UiO

Introduction to and application of propensity scores

Learning goals: understand the basics and theory behind propensity score, and be able to complete analyses using different applications.

Dates: April 1st – 4th 2019, University of Oslo

Registration and more information:

www.uio.no/studier/emner/matnat/farmasi/FRM9915/

Pharmacoepidemiology Study Design and Manuscript Writing

Learning goals: gain knowledge with Norwegian population-based registries, develop a statistical analysis plan, analyze data, and prepare a pharmaco-epidemiology manuscript.

Dates: On-site August 12th – 16th and September 23rd, University of Oslo + web-based sessions

Registration and more information:

www.uio.no/studier/emner/matnat/farmasi/FRM9640/

The courses are free for members of DURG Norway and NorPEN. The course is organized by the Pharmacoepidemiology and Drug Safety Research Group, and sponsored by the University of Oslo and the Norwegian PhD School of Pharmacy.

NFIF
NORWEGIAN PHD
SCHOOL OF PHARMACY